The Examiner's rejection of claims 1-6 and 8-24 of the present application over U.S. Pat. present application. Further, there is no teaching or suggestion in Gifford to motivate a person of skill in the art to have made the combination, as suggested by the Examiner, with Elliot et al., which is directed to an Internet based telephony system. Moreover, even if the hypothetical combination was made, Elliot et al. fails to disclose the disabler of the present claims, which disables the purchaser identifier such that no purchases can be made using that purchaser identifier in response to a monitored change in the delivery data associated with a particular purchaser identifier.
